

Please do not weaken anything that protects consumers from unsolicited calls. Americans have so little time to spend with our families, and I for one do not want that time taken up with my phone ringing during my dinner hour, on my days off, or any time, by companies that feel they have the right to bother me even though I have said I do not want to be bothered. When I need information on products, I will seek them out, I prefer not to have that role reversed.

I feel the same way about the time I waste cleaning up unsolicited paper and electronic mail. With the internet, it is very easy for me to find all these companies when I need their services. They should spend their efforts putting information about their business in search engine sites so when I am looking for them I will find them.

Please help stop unsolicited sales.

Thanks for listening,
